

I'm passionate about motorcycles. Every year I attend the BikeShed motorcycle show at Tobacco Dock, London. It's a celebration of custom motorcycles. Initially, I attended to view the motorcycles, however, over the years, my passion for motorcycles has combined with my passion for photography, particularly street photography, so my emphasis shifted to taking photographs of the people who attend the event.

My Bikers project attempts to capture the atmosphere created by the event.